Epidemics.

(From the Cincinnati Gazette.)
With the cholera still baunting the Western States, and increasing on the continent of Europe; with the yellow fever ravaging some of the Gulf States, and cerebro spinal meningitis and smallpox recently very prevalent in many of our cities and rural districts, one is inclined to believe that there is some malign influence in the air, which only needs certain local conditions to be developed into tearful. in the air, which only needs certain local conditions to be developed into fearful force. Contact with persons actually overtaken by disease is more sure to result in infection than any atmospheric influences, but this does not explain the selection of any particular locality for the ravages of an epidemic. Dirt and squalor are the friends of every malady, yet the filthiest places have been free from the cholera, while clean and apparently healthy neighborhoods have suffered from its deadly approach. The smallpox somehealthy neighborhoods have suitered from its deadly approach. The smallpox sometimes breaks out in quiet farm houses without any ordinary causes being assignable for its appearance, and so of the other pestilences. Just now Shreveport, Louisians, is filled with the dead and dying from yellow lever. Other towns, heretofore tavorite resorts of Yellow Jack, have thus far been spared.

Medical science has attempted to solve the great questions which arise have not been answered. It is thought by some physicians, and those persons of high pro-fessional eminence, that an uniavorably changed condition of the atmosphere has cataged conduction of the attackness as a cristed since the first great visit of cholera to Europe and America in 1831-39. This is mere speculation based on the unusual prevalence of various epidemic disorders indiscretions. This NEERYOUS DETILITY prevalence of various epidemic disorders during the last forty years. When Jenner first introduced vaccination it was believed to be a thorough prophylacid against smallpox. Individuals were vaccinated, and after the process was completed innoculated with smallpox lymph. In these cases the variolous matter proved mert, or, in plain language, would not take." Newadays, though vaccination is far from useless, many persons who have been thoroughly vaccinated, to all appearance, take the genuine smallpox. A Man who Remembers all About

A correspondent of the Washington Star who visited Mt. Vernon recently, gives this account of an old man he found there:

wednesday, sept. 17, 1873.

Cumberland, Md.

A Day in the "Queen City".-Allegiany Courty Fair.

(From our own correspondent)
Situated in a lovely valley, environed and gridironed by railroads, sursounded by faexhaustible beds of black diamonds, why should not Cumberland prosper? The smoky shadows of its prosperity begin to be noticeable in the number of new buildings on every side, and industries of various kinds are constantly springing up. Many of its people are wealthy and unusually enterprising in business; and being surrounded by an excellent farming country it is a first-class market, foy all kinds of produce. The choicest farms in the State are in this valley.

THE FAIR.

The Alleghany County Fair opens in this city on September 16th, lasting four days; and; it is anticipated that it will eclipse previous gatherings of the kind here in interest and attendance. Numbers of cattle, hogs, sheep, etc., have already arrived. The exhibition of poultry will be unusured. ington to Grant inclusive.

The Meanest Man.

The eshibition of poultry will be unusularly large. The machinery and agriculatural departments promise a better display than last year. The household and miscellaneous departments generally will be more attractive, than ever before. Among the noted horses already entered for trials of speed are: Allie Hunt, Skirmisher, Grey Dick, Anny Collins, Sleepy, David and Billy French. The society propose to award premiums for anything of merit, whether enumerated in premium lists or not.

FINE RESIDENCES.

The fine old time-tinted mansions of Cumberland, to the eye of an artist, would have many charms. In my own case I tound it a good training to hear an entusiastic friend dilate upon this bit of color, this glimpse of frich toning, this new and surprising effect. Fresh paint is his abomination. The glare of the new enters like iron into his soul. But a fine bit of dilapidatior, a ruin with a vine clambering over it, a hut all awry with a group of negroes, (and they abound here;) in their faring turbans set against the gaping walls, old chimneys and old roofs, the dark grays and browns that form into such rich pictures in an old town, these things would be sure to caich his eye and delight his fancy. In this city there are a dozen stately mansions that would be admirable for a sketch in oil or water colors, that would lose their value in black and white. It is a pity that divine color cannot enter into an engraving. HAL.

DR. JOHNSON

Dr. J. addresses all those who have Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Communition, A.—The fearful effect on the mind is much to be dreaded—Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Self Distrust, Lore of Sollinde, Timidity, &c., are some of the will produced.

Thousands of persous of all ages can not judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, paic, terwous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the cyce, cough and symptoms of Consemption.

VOLING MEN Who have injured themselves wao nave injured themselves by a certain practice indulged in when alone, a habit frequently learned from evil companions or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when arkep, and if not cured renders marriage immpossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately. What a pive that immediately. What a young man, the hope of his country, the darling of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyment of life by the consequences of deviating from the path of nature and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contemplating mant. such persons must, before contemplating reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary regulates to promote commission before the most places. Indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pligramage the prospect hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own.

DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.

When the miegrided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too offen happens that an ill-timed sense of ahme or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased note, not turnal pains in the head and ilmbs, dinness of sight, desfiness, nodes on the shin bones and arma, blotches on the head, face and extremetics, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the plate of the mouth or the bones of the occurrence of the victim of this swifal disease becomes a horrid object of commiscration, the commiscration, the sum of the commiscration, and the constitution, and make the residue of life miserable.
